DOCKETED

MAR 11 2002

Dear Mr. Williams:

DOCKETED BY

I am in receipt of your February 11, 2002 letter in which you requested information relating to the status of all violations (major and minor) cited in the October 16, 2001 NOV. I have attached a copy of the October 16, 2001 NOV for your review. Please note the violations are described in two parts. A regulatory citation with a brief description of the cited rule and the factual version of what constitutes the violation. For each violation the beginning date and/or the date the violation was corrected are described. Therefore, all violations cited in the October 16, 2002 NOV have been "cured" on or before January 14, 2002 (see NOV attached).

With regard to your request relating to the January 24, 2002 "Compliance Status Report," ADEQ is able to provide a report upon request which addresses the existence of major deficiencies that exist at that time. Those major deficiencies which exist at that time are described in the report. No other violation type is addressed by this report. In order to determine if any other violations exist, a complete file and database review must be conducted. This type of review requires a considerable resources and underscores why the department has created a "Major Deficiency Report" which primarily cites the existence of major deficiencies as specified in the report. Additionally, the report identifies whether or not the water quality produced by the water supplier complies with applicable standards, or states that additional data is required to make such determination(s). The major deficiency reports you received dated January 24, 2002 have not changed as of today. It is important to remember that these reports are designed to represent snapshots in time, and are not necessarily valid for any defined period of time.
